Tips on travel in Tibet

- ★ Please apply passport & Visa(must be clear) ahead 20days for us to issue the Tibet permit.
- 1.Drink enough water (mineral water is better, for you can't get 100% boiled water because of the lack of oxygen)
- 2. Wear enough warm clothes in order not to catch a cold (vast temperature difference between the day and the night wherever in Tibet ).
- 3.Better not take a shower on the first night, although you are not used to it. Cold shower is no good!
- 4. Walk slowly and talk less! You would certainly get so excited arriving at the Lhasa airport, but try to keep quiet. Walking fast and talking aloud take more oxygen!
- 5.Both sunglasses and sun block lotion are necessary (Being the top of world, Tibet is closest to the sun, and the sunshine is too strong.)
- 6.Hat and scarf are helpful when you reach to the summit of some mountains where is cold and windy as well.
- 7. "An apple a day keeps your doctor away", it also helps in Tibet! Banana is a good helper, too. Maybe you don't have a big appetite during first stays in Tibet, try to eat your favorite fruit!
- 8. Keep taking either Ginseng tea or Ginseng pills a week before your arrival in Tibet.
- 9.Make sure to have a medical check, if you used to suffer from the heart, breathing or high blood pressure problems. THIS IS VERY IMPORTANT!
- 10. Umbrella is a must for your travel of Tibet, although it seldom rains in the day time. When it comes to the rainy season, it often rains at night.
- 11.Don't get too dependent on oxygen tan or mask, it is quite normal when you don't feel well or find it difficult falling asleep for first 2 days. Try to keep optimistic!
